On 20th May 2022, from 6 p.m. at 10 Artisti Street, Turin, at davidepaludetto|artecontemporanea gallery, opens AIR - Come il sole la sfera (AIR - Like the Sun the Sphere).

An impressive work of scenic reconstruction in the exhibition area at 10 Artisti Street recreates a kind of au reverse landscape, a solemn forest of painting fragments, where bleachers, backstage and stage are suspended and without a role, in a continuous present that reveals no apparent motion.

The instinctive desire to understand the source, from which this all seems to radiate, puts the viewer to the very meaning of the title and to a representation of space that cannot be measured.

Sphere without beginning and without end, object that "cannot fall," without head nor weight, acephalous and polymorphous redefinition of the meaning of celestial body as an engine of inferences. "In the motion from fragmentation to corpus, the differences between the surfaces that clarify and the accumulations that - by definition - conceal, cover and generate are revealed" (cit. Painting Environment I, 2021).

In the constant dialectic between public and private, colossal and intimate, that runs through all of Idem Studio's works, and particularly those in the series AIR, Come il sole la sfera (AIR, Like the Sun the Sphere) it takes on the task of speaking to the individual in a language that openly confronts itself with the dimension of the monument and becomes political without openly desiring it. Up-close, singular and strictly personal experience: the only one possible.

An internal generating force pushes the fragments of its rays far away, to settle dunes, escapes, fragments - "confetti" - ever-changing surface expressions and peripheral vision generated by intricate, magnetic, invisible subtexts. A confidential catalog of variations on the theme and an open field where signs aspire to mean nothing, in a tension to shake off the analog chains, obviously without success.

But judging by the comments-"it looks like a wheat field"-that the recent photo that has been circulating on the web for a few days is receiving, neither does the Sun.

The exhibition, curated by Fabio Vito Lacertosa, with whom the group has been collaborating since 2017, will be opened until 30th June 2022.

IDEM Studio was founded in 2017 by sharing the research of the three artists Ruggero Baragliu, Samuele Pigliapochi and Angelo Spatola, for the purpose of connecting their experimental paths to reach a common critical vision about the contemporary image, encouraging the inevitable relationships that are created in a collaborative dimension of contamination. The IDEM Studio project maintains the cohesion generated by the three artists who from time to time, retaining the basic training, confront themselves with personalities and external contents, seeking continuous dialogues capable of transforming the path of the collective and returning its results to the territory.
